Compare to the Traditional Mat

Traditional mats require a foam ends that easy deteriorates, also foam edges are difficult to fold and store. Once foam edges are folded the creases take time to unfold (at times do not unfold at all) increasing the chances of your mat leaking from the edges. Many low-quality mats require berm brackets to hold up the edges making it impossible to set up and keep up. With the Barry Mat simply unfold and inflate for fast easy water containment. You will be surprised by the mat.
