RFQ:

Inflatable stage are relatively new to the market and people often have lots of questions, so we have added some frequently asked questions below:

Q1 - Does the blower need to be on all the time?

A - Yes - these stage domes work on a rammed air principle and will deflate slowly when the power is switched off, or when the blower is removed. It takes about 3 minutes to deflate. If the power supply cannot be guaranteed we recommend having a second blower on standby next to a small generator. This can quickly be turned on in case of a power cut.

Q2 - How long does it take to fully inflate?

A - About 8 Minutes

Q3 - How many people does it take to put up?

A - Ideally three people but can be done with just two people.

Q4 - Is it safe to use if it's windy?

A - Manufacturer specifications state that the dome can be used in winds up to 40 Km per hour. It does need to be correctly staked and strapped to ensure that it is secure.
